

PROGRESS! THE KIND WE HAVE HAD ENOUGH OF.

Uncle Sam: "I am going to cut loose from him and put a business-like engineer on the job."

TO EXTEND CAMPAIGN AMONG THE WORKERS

Of the Country is the National Association for Prevention of Tuberculosis.

WASHINGTON, May 13.—Plans for the extension of the anti-tuberculosis campaign among the working men and women of the country were outlined by Dr. Charles J. Hatfield, the executive secretary of the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis, in an address before the Sociological section of the association just made here.

Dr. Hatfield said:

"Local tuberculosis relief associations among the working men and women of this country have for the most part taken four forms: Those in which the employer and the employee have both contributed on a more or less fixed basis; those in which the employers have only contributed; those in which the working men have appealed to the general community for the establishment of a sanatorium; and those in which the labor unions have controlled the work for the relief of fellow members. There are besides these four forms of organization the large number of general benefit associations in shops and stores, and the splendid work of the large international unions such as the typographical, printing pressmen, photoengravers, cigar-makers and others.

"In a recent study made by the national association, organizations of the four types mentioned were carefully studied in such cities as Hartford, New Haven and Meriden, Conn.; Worcester, Mass.; Albany, Brooklyn, and Buffalo, N. Y.; and Newark, N. J. From the experience of these organizations a plan where the employer contributes everything and simply arranges for a limited stay of his men in a sanatorium, as is done in Worcester, seems to be undesirable. Another plan which cannot be commended very highly is one in which the bulk of effort is spent on the establishment of a sanatorium. In the first of these two plans, no provision is made for co-operation of the workmen, which seems to be vital to the success of any tuberculosis relief organization. In the second, the establishment and maintenance of a sanatorium appears to be too great a drain on the limited private resources of the working men. Such effort should rather be encouraged and insisted upon as a legitimate expenditure from the public purse.

"In Hartford and other Connecticut cities a form of organization has grown up in which the workers contribute whatever they are able to a free tuberculosis bed fund, and the employers generally equal the joint contribution of their employees. This money is then used in treatment of tuberculosis men and women in state sanatoria, so that by offering treatment at reduced rates, the state also in effect contributes a share.

"The national association urges that in every industrial city and town some special effort be made to organize the working men and women in the anti-tuberculosis campaign. This organization should preferably be under control and leadership of the local, central, anti-tuberculosis association and should have the following features:

"A plan of collection of funds which should bring contributions both from employees and from employers.

"A system of periodic medical examination so arranged that it would discover and control early cases of tuberculosis and other diseases, and that it would also provide for the suitable employment of the convalescent worker.

"A division of responsibility which would throw much of the care or relief of the tuberculosis working men upon the shoulders of the special organizations of the men themselves.

"The opportunity to collect statistical material should be recognized and the working men themselves should be impressed through every possible means with the necessity and desirability of this type of co-operation."

WOMEN TALK ON SUFFRAGE AT ENTERPRISE

Large Audience Hears Speakers Who Expect to Form an Organization Soon.

SHINNSTON, May 13.—Mrs. Sylvia Saurborne, of Bridgeport, and Mrs. U. TANLAC DOES NOT CURE EVERYTHING FROM CORNS TO DANDRUFF, HE SAYS

CERTAIN WORK CAUSES KIDNEY TROUBLE

Stomach and Liver Ailments Also Caused by Our Methods of Living.

TELLS HOW TO OVERCOME DREADED AILMENTS.

Men and women, generation after generation, are becoming more and more liable to certain disorders, caused by a century of hustle and overwork, and particularly in certain industries we find that complaints arising from disorders of the stomach, kidney and liver are becoming more prevalent.

This no doubt is due to the manner of living and the standard of pleasure we have set for ourselves and to the strain of American enterprise which demands that production in the factory shall forever be on the increase. Work in many trades impose an extra heavy strain upon the kidneys and those engaged in these occupations should be particularly watchful for signs of kidney trouble. Young and old are subject to kidney weakness but statistics will show that those employed constantly under any of the following conditions are especially apt to have it—Exposure to extreme of temperature, constant dampness, continual jarring or jolting, working in cramped positions, straining the back, inhaling fumes from turpentine, lead, etc. These are very apt to have backache, urinary disorders, gravel, bladder inflammation, rheumatism or nervous disorders due to weakened kidneys.

Constipation causes some of the worst ills of humanity and is one of the most common ailments today. Unless the bowels move regularly which they will not do if the system is deranged or weakened, your food will ferment, and turn poisonous, and will spread foul gases through the body. The effect of loading the blood with these impurities is apparent and causes throbbing headaches, gas on the stomach, full, bloated feeling, foul breath, coated tongue, and you feel heavy, drowsy and sleep poorly. The cause must be removed if nature is to be expected to do her work properly. Salts, mineral purgatives, calomel and other often used purgatives overwork the bowels and leave them exhausted, and some laxatives irritate the kidneys. The better plan is to restore the organs to normal and permit nature to do this work in her own inimitable way.

Stomach, kidney and liver ailments, and their cure have been the object of years of study at the great Dayton Ohio laboratory, where Herr Joseph Trimbach studied and labored years, to perfect and create a pure vegetable remedy which would relieve the system of impurities, remove the cause and build up the strained, weakened vital organs to normal. The result of these years of research is Tanlac, now endorsed by doctor, druggist and thousands upon thousands of people, and the statements of several people right here in this city, elsewhere on this page prove its wonderfully efficiency.

As everyone must know by this time, the new preparation may be secured through Farrell's Drug Store, here in Clarksburg, or at druggists in nearby towns listed elsewhere on this page of today's paper.

Not a Cure-All by Any Means and Does Not Work Like Magic Either, but Does Accomplish Remarkable Results in Certain Cases.

RHEUMATISM GONE HE TOOK TANLAC

Stomach Too Disappears When He at Last Begins Taking New Remedy.

TELLS WHAT TANLAC DID FOR HIM BELOW

"Tanlac is the talk of Wheeling," writes Mr. W. M. Wyatt, "and I felt that if it helped everybody else it would help me too, for I was suffering from rheumatism and stomach trouble. My whole system was run down and I was hardly able to be up. I ached all over, had no appetite and what I did eat would sour and cause me to belch. I felt all out of sorts and was not able to attend to my duties but since taking Tanlac I haven't any rheumatism and I eat what I want and my stomach retains it. I feel good and strong, have a fine appetite and feel better than I have felt in the past ten years. I'm not a believer in patent medicines but Tanlac deserves the reputation it has won in this section and I'm mighty glad to recommend Tanlac too."

CLARKSBURG MAN PRAISES TANLAC

Gained Ten Pounds and His Years of Suffering from Stomach Trouble Ended.

TELLS ABOUT HIS CASE

"My stomach troubled me for ten or twelve years before I began taking Tanlac, and I had tried most every remedy I knew of without avail, but now since having taken four bottles of this new medicine, I have no stomach troubles and have gained ten pounds," said a well known Clarksburg man, Mr. W. E. Bryant, 231 North Chestnut street, and he continued:

"I had lost weight, was run down and as I said have suffered for years with my stomach. Food would sour and give me great trouble, but now since taking the new remedy Tanlac, I have no stomach trouble, eat heartily and feel strong and healthy and give the proper nourishment and I am feeling stronger and better in every way and must give Tanlac the credit for I cannot help but praise a preparation that gave such good results and the results are lasting too, for I haven't taken any in three weeks and I am feeling O. K." (Signed) W. E. Bryant, 231 North Chestnut street, Clarksburg.

Thousands likewise endorse Tanlac and it surely deserves a thorough trial by anyone so troubled or afflicted with kidney or liver complaints. It is sold here through Farrell's Drug Store $1.00 per bottle. Mr. L. E. Renfrow, the representative present at the store daily, gladly explains more about it.

People Should Familiarize Themselves with Cause of Most Diseases.

Then by Guarding Against and Removing Cause Keep Well.

One is apt to believe after reading a number of Tanlac advertisements that the manufacturer claims to cure everything from corns to dandruff, but this is far from so. It is true that a hundred different symptoms indicate and always will, some disorder for instance of the stomach. Then, too, many kindred ailments arise from a weakening or faltering of the kidneys. The liver may be torpid and trouble one in many ways, and catarrhal affections of the head, nose throat or stomach, cause many troubles. But wait a moment.

"Higher medical authorities assert that Auto-Intoxication is the foundation of most ailments and disease," says T. C. Prince, who has given the subject much thought and study. "Auto-Intoxication is nothing more or less than the slow self-poisoning of the vital organs produced by excessive physical and mental strain we are forced to endure which renders the vital organs lame and renders toxins—actual poisons to be germinated within one's own body, and the blame lies with our faulty methods of living. A tired, dragging feeling, sluggish mind, dull memory, tense nervousness, headaches, stomach and intestinal troubles, imperfect digestion, constipation and similar ailments are the first indications of disease and ailments more to be dreaded such as for instance, stomach, kidney, liver, catarrhal affections and nine out of ten people in the average American city are likely to be so affected."

If it is true and this cannot be doubted, that Auto-Intoxication is the foundation for most ailments and disease, then in Tanlac if it can remove the cause and restore the vital organs to normal, we have a remedy which is destined to relieve nine out of ten people in the average American city from most ailments and disease, for if the cause is removed, and the vital organs of the stomach, kidney and liver are restored and properly perform their functions, nature herself will purge the system of impurities and correct and build up health and vitality. This, then, we find, is the simple explanation of Tanlac's wonderful success. And whether or not Tanlac actually does cure the many ailments attributable to the stomach, kidney or liver, is proven conclusively by the many thousands of test and the thousands of glowing testimonials people in this city and vicinity have given Tanlac.

If one will study closely the wonderful work Tanlac is accomplishing in this city, or all the cities where it is being introduced, they too, will clearly see, that Tanlac was created to cleanse the system, remove the cause and restore the vital organs to normal, and its wonderful success is a tribute to the great Dayton laboratory and the eminent German chemist, Herr Joseph Trimbach, who labored years to perfect it. Every ailment those who testify mention on this page or day after day in this paper, may be easily traced to a catarrhal condition or ailments of the stomach, kidney or liver, which this wonderful preparation was designed to relieve by removing the cause. As everyone here knows Tanlac is sold through Farrell's Drug Store (two doors above Odeon Theater).

Belmont hotel as man and wife. At that time there was an idea of getting a baby from the physician, he said, but this was abandoned for the Ottawa coup.

Mrs. Matters went to Canada in her heavy mourning weeds, so ran Mr. Ramsey's statement, and acted the part of a deeply grieving and heartbroken widow. She sobbed when she saw children playing and brought out a black bordered handkerchief when she spoke of her dear dead husband.

Incidentally this black bordered handkerchief—or rather two of them—were in evidence at the trial, either as stage effect or sense of economy, for Mrs. Matters had been dead considerably over a year.

At the Misericordia hospital she induced her mother superior, St. Celestine, the attorney says, to believe that she was the widow of a wealthy man, whose father was brokenhearted over his son's death. She said that she wanted a child to fill the emptiness of her life, to give her something to live for, to give the old man pleasure and generally to make life happy and contented for one herself.

Told of Embracing Faith. It was agreed upon, it is stated, particularly as Mrs. Matters said she intended embracing the faith, and never intended to remarry. She was to return in September for the child.

The testimony will show, Mr. Ramsey declares, that she returned in July to the Ottawa hospital and began to mingle with the charity patients who were expecting children. She followed Jessie Bryan, a young girl who had been in love with a shoemaker, all around the hospital. When it came time for Jessie's illness she was told, after she came out of the anesthetic, that her child had died. And it is this child, the plaintiffs contend, which Mrs. Matters is attempting to bring forward as the daughter of Fred Matters.

In addition, Mr. Ramsey said that Mellon was so attentive to Mrs. Matters at the hospital that she was remonstrated with by the sisters, and also that in spite of her alleged condition, she was well enough to steal away on gay parties at an Ottawa hotel.

The complainant's charges are denied in toto by the defendant. The confessions of the nurses, who now declare Mrs. Matters did not give birth to a child at the Misericordia hospital, and that the child she claims belongs to the Bryan girl, are described by Mrs. Matters' attorney as perjury. He insinuates that priests were bribed to persuade these nurses to testify that the babe belongs to the Bryan girl.

RAIDS CAUSE COLDS.

LONDON, May 13.—At an inquest on a woman who died from illness brought on by the news of a Zeppelin raid, a physician declared that when the raids were in progress the vitality of people was lowered and they caught severe colds. "They have a sense of impending disaster," he said, "knowing that other people are suffering and not knowing what will happen to themselves."
